

Violence at Work

Rayan Facilities Management Ltd employees who come into contact with the public may encounter violent or aggressive behaviour. At times, members of the public may attack or threaten them, either physically or verbally.

The Health and Safety Executive defines violence as “Any incidence, in which an employee is abused, threatened or assaulted by a member of the public in circumstances arising out of the course of his or her employment”.

The most common type of incident our employees typically encounter involves verbal abuse and threats. Physical attacks occur less frequently. In addition to the use of unlawful physical force against a person, violence may also involve the uttering of verbal abuse and threats (whether with or without a weapon), rude innuendoes or gestures, and racial/ sexual harassment.

Violence of any kind can cause significant emotional stress even when there is not a physical injury. A risk of physical injury may be implied by threats. Those who damage an employee’s personal property and belongings can also instil fear of future physical attack and thereby cause emotional distress and stress.

Statement

As an employer, we will spare no reasonable effort and precautions needed to protect our employees’ safety and health at work and to help prevent aggression and violence of all kinds.

Employees, who are assaulted, threatened, or who have suffered verbal abuse while working will receive all possible support and assistance by the company, including efforts to protect them while working on our clients’ premises.

Reporting of Incidents

We have an “Incident Report form” which will be available on site or electronically, which employees and managers should use to report any incidence of violence, aggression, threats or verbal abuse at work whenever and wherever it occurs. Reporting such incidents is legally required under the Reporting of Injuries, Diseases, and Dangerous Occurrences Regulation’s 2013 (RIDDOR).

What are Reportable Injuries?

The following injuries are reportable under RIDDOR when they result from a work-related accident:

- The death of any person
- Specified Injuries to workers
- Injuries to workers which result in their incapacitation for more than 7 days
- Injuries to non-workers which result in them being taken directly to hospital for treatment, or specified injuries to non-workers which occur on hospital premises.

Certain accidents are reportable to the HSE's Incident Contact Centre. The Health and Safety Coordinator must be notified as soon as practicable after incidents causing the following injuries:
